With over five years of experience, Alejandra focuses her practice on civil and commercial litigation, amparoproceedings, and insolvency proceedings.

She has represented domestic and international companies as both plaintiffs and defendants in contractual disputes, ordinary, summary, and oral commercial proceedings, interim relief measures, and judgment enforcement. She has also handled direct and indirect amparo proceedings and related appeals before District Courts and Collegiate Circuit Courts.

In insolvency matters, she has participated in various stages of the proceedings, including claim recognition and asset separation, representing creditors and advising on corporate restructurings.

She has also participated in commercial arbitrations administered by the International Chamber of Commerce (ICC).
