Andrés has experience in antitrust and competition, corporate compliance, and international trade. He advises domestic and international companies on competition law, regulatory compliance, and international trade matters, helping them develop legal strategies to mitigate risks and ensure compliance with applicable regulatory frameworks.

His experience includes merger control filings, antitrust investigations involving monopolistic practices, and the assessment of transactions with competition law implications. He also advises clients on the design and implementation of corporate compliance programs, internal investigations, antidumping and international trade proceedings, as well as health regulatory matters and the management of audits and other administrative proceedings before government authorities.

Andrés earned a Master of Laws (LL.M.) from the Northwestern Pritzker School of Law, where he focused his studies on antitrust and competition law, corporate compliance, and international business law.
